

United States — the main sponsor of Hitler

70 years ago was the start of the greatest slaughter in history, which financed the Federal reserve and the Bank of England. The recent resolution of the parliamentary Assembly of the OSCE fully equalizing role of the Soviet Union and Nazi Germany at the outbreak of the Second world war in addition that has a purely pragmatic purpose to extort money out of Russia on the contents of some of bankrupt economies aims to demonize Russia as the successor to the USSR and to prepare the legal ground for the deprivation of her right to speak out against revision of results of war. But if we put the problem of responsibility for the outbreak of the war, then you first need to answer the key question of who provided the Nazis came to power who sent them on the road to disaster the Entire pre-war history of Germany shows that to achieve the desired political course served managed the financial turmoil in which the way the world was plunged today. Adolf Hitler was a Jewish-German fascist The key structures established post-war development strategy of the West was the Central financial institutions of great Britain and the United States, the Bank of England and the Federal reserve, the fed, and the associated financial and industrial organizations had set the goal to establish absolute control over the financial system of Germany to control political processes in Central Europe. To implement this strategy it is possible to allocate following stages 1st from 1919 to 1924. soil preparation for massironi American financial injections into the German economy 2nd from 1924 to 1929. the establishment of control over the financial system of Germany and the financial support of national socialism 3rd from 1929 to 1933, and provoking the outbreak of the deepest financial and economic crisis and ensuring the Nazis came to power 4th from 1933 to 1939. financial cooperation with the Nazi government and support its expansionist foreign policy aimed at preparing and unleashing a new world war. In the first stage, the main levers to ensure the penetration of American capital into Europe began war debts and the closely related problem of German reparations. After the formal US entry into the first world war they gave the allies primarily England and France, loans of $ 88 billion. The total sum of war debt including loans granted to the United States in 1919-1921, was over 11 billion dollars. To solve the problems of debtor countries tried by Germany to impose a huge amount of extremely difficult conditions and the payment of reparations. The resulting flight of German capital abroad and refusal to pay taxes led to a state budget deficit

Link to article:: United States — the main sponsor of Hitler